And I have videos stored on YouTube. If you lost your job due to the pandemic or other reasons, here are the steps to take next to file an unemployment claim online.Step 1: Contact Your State Unemployment AgencyWhether you were laid off because of the pandemic or lost your job due to other unforeseen circumstances, filing for unemployment benefits is one way to cover a portion of your monthly bills while you're between jobs. Our peers over at Ask.com have the answers. Then you head to socialfolders.me, where you create an account and start connecting your social services. Texas, for example, waived their work search requirement for many months but reinstated it on November 1. You will need to make sure you have the storage to spare, though, as some of these files could take up plenty of disk space. Photo Courtesy: Witthaya Prasongsin/Moment/Getty Images Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, unemployment rates rose sharply in the United States in the spring of 2020. You simply create a folder in the SocialFolders directory on your desktop, and its contents will be automatically synced to your account. To qualify for unemployment, an individual who lost their job must be eligible for work, able to work and actively seeking employment. I found this a very handy way to grab photos of my nieces and nephews that my siblings share on Facebook. Photo Courtesy: skaman306/Moment/Getty Images Once your claim has been processed, you will need to make an appointment at your nearest American Job Center for your state or set up an account online. (Exceptions are currently in place to qualify independent contractors and the self-employed, but those rules expire at the end of 2020.) Photo Courtesy: Stefan Wermuth/Bloomberg/Getty Images Each state has different compliance requirements with respect to minimum wages and working hours, so we recommend consulting your state's unemployment agency for details. Moreover, if you willingly quit your job, are an independent contractor or otherwise self-employed, or can't go back to work for health or other reasons, you might not qualify. Photo Courtesy: SDI Productions/E+/Getty Images When you file your claim, you will be asked for some personal information, including your name, address(es), social security number (SSN), last 18 months of employment history, a record of wages earned and the reason and dates for your employment termination. The online process isn't just helpful for pandemic safety reasons. Since those early days of chaos, most states have adapted and made improvements to handle all the claims. I have documents stored in Box. Which is great—until I want access to these files when I'm offline. During this interview, you will be asked specific questions about your employment background and other information mentioned in your claim. In most cases, you will file a claim with the state where you most recently worked, but if you recently relocated from another state, that may not be the case. SocialFolders is not only limited to downloads: It lets you upload files to your social sites, too. Subfolders for each of your connected services will automatically be created there, too. These types of requests are typically very time sensitive. Photo Courtesy: Justin Sullivan/Getty Images In some cases, an unemployment official will interview you to clarify and verify details regarding your case and your identity. Set up email notifications, if possible, and watch closely for any messages requesting additional information. The state agency will provide guidance on that as well as any other issues that could impact your claim.Step 2: Determine Your EligibilityAs stated earlier, you need to meet certain criteria in order to be eligible for unemployment benefits. Several states conduct telephone interviews before the final ruling to help prevent potential unemployment insurance fraud. Photo Courtesy: svetika/E+/Getty Images Finally, it's important to keep in mind that unemployment benefits are usually contingent upon a recipient doing their part to actively look for a new job. If you want to make sure your claim isn't delayed, be sure to complete all the sections fully and accurately. The company does note that most of the photo-sharing sites it supports lets users download photos in full resolution, though. If you have any difficulty locating your local center, contact your state unemployment agency for assistance. Additionally, if your application is denied for any reason, you have the right to file an appeal to try to overturn the denial.Step 3: Verify Your IdentityDuring the initial application process, each state's unemployment division will ask you to verify and authenticate your identity. Although this rule may vary by state at times due to special circumstances (like a global pandemic), the general rule of thumb is that you're expected to pursue work leads every week and report your work search efforts in your weekly claim.Do you have COVID-19-specific questions about unemployment benefits and stimulus checks? I did notice that some of the photos that SocialFolders downloaded for me looked to be slightly lower res than they appeared when viewed on Facebook, though. Depending on the state you reside in, you will be eligible to apply for unemployment benefits online, in person, on the phone or by mailing in a claim form. For example, SocialFolders uses Facebook's default upload API, which can reduce photo resolution. Photo Courtesy: JGI/Tom Grill/Getty Images After you've lost your job, contact your state unemployment agency as soon as possible. Virtual systems also reduce errors and speed up the claim process. -Liane Cassavoy It offers a free and easy way to make sure you always have a backup of your precious online data. These steps may take place as you're filing your application, or they could be the last steps in determining your eligibility. If you fail to answer the questions correctly — or don't consent to this process — you will most likely be asked to provide the agency with documents that verify your identity.Step 4: File Your ClaimOnce you confirm your eligibility, it's time to file your claim. By the end of April, a staggering 30 million Americans had filed for unemployment benefits. Without a doubt, the ongoing pandemic throws a bit of a wrench into the process of actively seeking work, so that component may vary from state to state and could change at any time. SocialFolders does more than just create a backup of your files. (The free version of SocialFolders limits you to three services and 2,000 files; a Premium account, which costs $10 per year, is unlimited.) SocialFolders organizes your Facebook photos into folders that correspond with your album names, and photo titles that correspond to your captions.Once you've connected SocialFolders to your social services, icons for each of them will appear in the SocialFolders folder that's been created on your computer. SocialFolders is both an application and a Web service: You download a component to your desktop, which creates a SocialFolders folder that you can access via Windows Explorer. You'll be required to answer some questions about any work you completed each week as well as any other income you received. MORE FROM ASKMONEY.COM At a GlanceWorks in the backgroundSimple to useSome photos were low-resSome photos were low resSocialFolders makes it easy to create offline copies of your online data. These state-run agencies give people access to job listings and career training resources, and registration is mandatory to receive your unemployment insurance benefits. I could go to each site and download all of my files until I've amassed an offline collection of my stuff. If you fail to file your weekly claim, your benefits may be delayed or stopped altogether. Finally, keep in mind that unemployment benefits are taxable, so it's generally wise to choose to have taxes withheld from each payment when you first open your claim.Step 5: Collect Your Unemployment BenefitsMost claims are processed within two to three calendar weeks or 10 business days, although delays could occur during times of high claim volumes. It depends on the reason you were fired, and the rules vary by state. The company says that it does not change the resolution of photos when they're downloaded, but that it relies on the API of the social site itself. Even worse, months later, many jobless people were still desperately trying to cut through all the red tape and the massive volume of people to file their own unemployment claims. While you may be breathing an initial sigh of relief once your initial claim is processed, be sure to maintain your eligibility status by continuing your job search as directed.Step 6: File Your Weekly Payment Request and Keep Up the Job SearchOnce you start receiving unemployment benefits, you have to file weekly or biweekly (varies by state) payment requests online to be paid — no exceptions. You can use SocialFolders's Web interface to determine how much information you'd like access to (all of your Facebook albums, or only a select few, for example), and the content you've chosen will be automatically downloaded to your desktop. It also lets you access your friends' photos and files (as long as their privacy settings allow you to do so), and to create an offline copy of these documents, too. Minor issue with photo resolution aside, I was quite impressed with SocialFolders. Or I could just turn to SocialFolders, a service that offers an idea that's so simple—it syncs the content you have on your social sites to your desktop—I have to wonder why someone didn't think of it before. I have photos stored on Facebook. Nearly all unemployment agencies accept claims online, especially in light of the COVID-19 pandemic. Long story short, where you're currently residing might not be the state that will pay you unemployment benefits if you haven't lived there long. In some cases, people who were fired, suspended or asked to take a leave of absence don't qualify for unemployment. SocialFolders supports Box, Evernote, Facebook, Flickr, Google Docs, Instagram, Photobucket, Picasa, SmugMug, Twitter, and YouTube. If you're wondering how to file a claim after all the changes, we can help you figure it out. I have spreadsheets stored in Google Docs.
